QUESTIONS IN INDIRECT SPEECH

Direct question: He said, "Where is she going?"

Indirect question: He asked where she was going.

When we turn direct questions into indirect speech, the following changes are necessary:

a. Tenses, pronouns and possessive adjectives, and adverbs of time and place change as in statements.

b. The interrogative form of the verb changes to the affirmative form.

c. The question mark is omitted in indirect questions.

B. If the introductory verb is say, it must be changed to a verb of inquiry, e.g. ask, wonder, want to know etc.

• He said, "Where is the station?" → He asked where the station was.

C. Ask can be followed by the person addressed

• (indirect object): He asked, "What have you got in your bag?" → He asked (me) what I had got in my bag.

If we wish to report a question where the person addressed is mentioned, we must use ask.

• He said, "Mary, when is the next train?" → He asked Mary when the next train was.

D. If the direct question begins with a question word (when, where, who, how, why etc.) the question word is repeated in the indirect question:

• He said, "She said, "What do you want?" → She asked (them) what they wanted.

E. If there is no question word, if or whether must be used:

"Is anyone there?" he asked → He asked if/whether anyone was there.
